A UAL's Central Saint Martine

Central Saint Martins, UAL, is a world-leading center for arts and design education, based in King's Cross, London. Central Saint Martins is safe ground for the restless creativity of the future. From fine artists and fashion designers to architects and material innovators, the college community inspires students to question accepted norms and test the boundaries of their discipline. Students have to choose one of areas; Fashion Design Menswear, Fashion Design Womenswear, Fashion Print, Fashion Design with Knitwear or Fashion Design with Marketing. They can work with companies like Christian Dior, Louis Vuitton, or the Victoria and Albert Museum as part of their course. At the end of every year, the best students present their collections at a final show, where potential employers look for new talent.

B The Istituto Marangoni

The Istituto of Marangoni is a private school of fashion and design situated in Milan, in Northern Italy. The Institute has branches in Florence, London and Paris, Shanghai, Shenzhen in China, Mumbai and Miami. The Institution was established in the year 1935 by the tailor Guilio Marangoni. The Institution has partnered with the Cappellini company to carve out the best of designs and fashion. Courses on offer include; design, styling, product development and marketing; but they all have the real Made in Italy fashion values at their center. The Istituto Marangoni Milan is now home to around 4000 students enrolled in various courses and provides a truly international fashion degree. Among the list of famous former students, you can find Franco Moschino, Domenico Dolce and Alessandro Sartori.

C Ecole de la Chambre Syndicale de la Couture Parisienne

ESMOD is the world's first and oldest fashion school established in 1841 by Alexis Lavigne. The ESMOD school's fashion design program is a three-year course of study focusing on discovery, collections and specialization. The school is so important that it often insists that students complete a design course in another school or college first, before studying there. The first year is devoted to learning fashion design basics such as human form, illustration, color, basic flat pattern and draping techniques. The second year delves into learning about various types of fashion (men's wear, children's wear and women's wear) and line development. Third-year students decide their design niche and target market (for example, women's active wear) and develop a complete fashion collection to be presented to a jury that counts for 50 percent of the student's third-year grade. Fashion designers Yves Saint Laurent, Karl Lagerfeld, Valentino, Andre Courrèges, Lefranc, Stéphane Rolland, Issey Miyake, Olivier Lapidus and others studied here.

D Fashion Institute of Technology

The Fashion Institute of Technology is a public college for design, fashion, art, communications, and business and technology connected to the fashion industry. In 1944, the institute was incorporated into the State University of New York (SUNY) system and officially became known as the Fashion Institute of Technology. It i has over 8,800 full-time and part-time students enrolled across four major schools within the college. Providing an uncommon blend of practical experience and theory on a foundation of arts and sciences, FIT offers a wide range of affordable programs such as photography, toy design, international trade, cosmetics and fragrance marketing. They offer internship with companies like Ralph Lauren, Nike and Marcy`s. No surprise then that well – known former students include Carolina Herrera, Calvin Klein and Michael Kors.
